Part I: The Announcement of the Pope's Death - A Divine Marker

In the early morning hours of Easter Monday in Rome, a public announcement was made: the Pope had passed away. Though many of us in the awakened community have long felt his spirit had already departed, it was the timing of the announcement that struck a profound chord. Not Easter Sunday, but Easter Monday - a day symbolic of resurrection, rebirth, and the moment the stone was found rolled away from the tomb. It wasn't coincidence. It was prophecy unfolding.

The Church has long symbolized a control structure of the 3D matrix, holding spiritual truths behind closed walls. With this announcement, we witnessed the beginning of the collapse of that structure - not in fear, but in divine timing. The veils are thinning, and Source is making it clear: we are to awaken. The passing of this figure is not an ending, but the signal of a great shift. A marker. A trumpet blast. A door opening to a higher consciousness.

Part II: A Prophetic Unveiling - Christ Consciousness Reawakens

Easter Monday, and the death of a global spiritual figure, signal more than tradition - they signify prophecy. The passing of the Pope publicly on this sacred Monday symbolizes the end of one era and the rebirth of Christ consciousness into the hearts of humankind.

It is not just the man that passed - it is the role, the institution, the structure. And with that, the chains that have bound so many souls for centuries begin to loosen. This is the second part of the sign. The passing of this figure aligns with cosmic energies and divine timing, revealing to us the era we are stepping into: the awakening of our divine blueprint, the return of the true teachings of Christ, unfiltered by religion, restored in spirit and truth.

The Earth groans. The people stir. Something ancient is rising.

Part III: The Rise of the People - The Army of Light Awakens

With the old structure collapsing, what rises in its place is not a new religion, but a rebirth of divine identity - the Christ within. This is the third and most glorious sign: that the people are awakening. We, the Army of Light, are stepping into our mission with clarity, courage, and conviction.

We are no longer looking outward for salvation; we are turning inward to the God-spark within. That divine fire is guiding our every move - waking us up at night, nudging us to research, to share, to speak truth, and to build. Our gifts are sharpening. Our timelines are shifting. And we are walking in both worlds - 3D and 5D - bridging Heaven and Earth.

You are not alone in this. The loneliness, the isolation - it was preparation. You were chosen because you are strong enough to walk ahead, to scout the terrain like a spiritual ranger behind enemy lines. And now, the world is beginning to catch up to what your soul has always known.

The announcement was more than a moment in the news cycle. It was a trumpet. It was a tear in the veil. And it was your confirmation.

Christ consciousness is alive - and this time, it's awakening in you.
